2. OBJECT

Anyone who accesses this website will be considered a user and commits to strict compliance with the terms of this document, and to any other legal regulation which may be applied.

The arText system website gives users this document to comply with the obligations set forth in Spanish Law 34/2002 on Information Society Services and Electronic Commerce (LSSI-CE), as well as to inform all users of the website regarding the conditions of use of the website. This document is permanently available on the <https://sistema-artext.com/> website, so that users can consult it, file it, or print it.

The purpose of this website is to give access to arText, a free and online automatic system to help write texts in specialized fields and texts in plain language. It is aimed at different types of users: citizens who need to write texts addressed to the Public Administration, students who have to write academic papers, professionals from different fields like medicine and tourism, etc. The system is an online editor that helps structure the document, assign titles to sections, add prototypical content, and incorporate phrases related to the text. Likewise, it includes a module that allows the user to linguistically revise their text, and see suggestions related to lexicon and discourse. The system also includes a spell checking and formatting module. It allows the user to export the written text in several formats, which they must save locally. The arText system does not save the texts written by users on its servers.

The arText system website reserves the right to modify any information that may appear on the <https://sistema-artext.com/> website, and is under no obligation to warn or inform users of these modifications.

3. RESPONSIBILITY

The arText system website is exempt from any kind of liability arising from the information published on its website if this information has been manipulated or inserted by an external third party.

The <https://sistema-artext.com/> website could include links to third-party content. Since it is not possible to control the content inserted by third parties on their websites, we can accept no responsibility regarding such content. In any case, we will immediately remove any content that may disobey national or international legislation, public morality, or public order, and inform the relevant authorities about the content in question.

In compliance with the provisions of art. 11 and 16 of the LSSI-CE, the arText system website remains at the disposal of all users, public authorities, and security forces to actively collaborate in the removal or blocking of all content that may affect or disobey national or international legislation, the rights of third parties, or public morality and public order. In the case that the user feels that there is some content on the website that may be susceptible to this classification, please immediately notify the website administrator through the following email address: sistema.artext@gmail.com.

This website has been revised and tested so that it functions correctly 365 days a year, 24/7. Nevertheless, the possibility that certain programming errors may exist, or events of force majeure, natural catastrophes, strikes, or similar circumstances that may arise that make access to the website impossible cannot be ruled out.

4. PERSONAL DATA PROTECTION

The arText system website ensures full compliance with the obligations set forth, as well as the implementation of the security measures set forth in art. 9 of Law 15/1999 on Personal Data Protection (LOPD) and in the Regulation for the Development of said law.

The arText system website does NOT collect personal data introduced by the user in any type of form. To access the <https://sistema-artext.com/> website, you do NOT need to provide any personal data. Therefore, we expressly ensure that the user's personal data are not disclosed under any circumstances to third parties.

5. INTELLECTUAL AND INDUSTRIAL PROPERTY

The <https://sistema-artext.com/> website, including but not limited to its programming, editing, compilation, and other necessary elements for its functioning, designs, logos, text and/or graphics are the property of the arText system website, or if applicable the latter has the licence or specific authorization of the authors. All website content is duly protected by intellectual and industrial property regulations.

Independently of the purpose to which it is destined, the partial or total reproduction, usage, exploitation, distribution, and commercialization of this content, requires, in all cases, the previous written authorization of the controller, Dr Iria da Cunha, researcher and professor at the Universidad Nacional de Educación a Distancia (UNED) in Spain. Any usage not previously authorized by the provider will be considered a serious infringement of the intellectual or industrial property of the author.

The designs, logos, text, and/or graphics that do not belong to the service provider and that may appear on the website, belong to their respective owners, who remain responsible and liable in the case of any possible controversy. In any case, the arText system website holds specific prior authorization from said owners.

6. APPLICABLE LEGISLATION AND JURISDICTION

For the resolution of any controversy or conflict related to this website or the activities carried out on it, Spanish law will be applicable, and the parties specifically submit themselves to the jurisdiction of the Courts and Tribunals of Madrid for the resolution of all conflicts derived from or related to its use, and the user expressly waives their right to any other jurisdiction that may apply.
